

Italian Reds

Veneto

Veneto is located in the eastern corner of Italy, protected from the harsh northern European climate by the Alps. These cooler climates are well-suited to white varieties while the warmer Adriatic coastal plains and river valleys are where the renowned Valpolicella, Amarone and Bardolino DOC reds are produced. The nation's most important wine fair, Vinitaly, takes place each spring in Verona.

Piedmont

Piedmont is located in the northwestern corner of Italy. The most well known wines from the region include the Barolo, Barbaresco made from the Nebbiolo grape. While Turin is the capital, the commune of Alba is at the heart of the region's wine industry. The wine making industry of Piedmont played a significant role in the early stages of the Risorgimento, the Italian Unification of the 19th century.

Tuscany

Located in central Italy along the Tyrrhenian coast, home to some of the world's most notable wine regions; Chianti, Brunello's & Vino Nobile's, primarily made with Sangiovese grape. In the 70s, a new class of wines known in the trade as "Super Tuscans" emerged. These wines were made outside DOC/DOCG regulations but were considered of high quality and commanded high prices. Many of these wines became cult wines.
